FIFTEEN CENTS

Booze, board members don't mix

by GLORIA DAVIS

Believers in the occult might claim that the Antioch trustee election of April 12 was hexed. The average Antioch voter is probably becoming more confused by the minute as to who are, or will be, the three elected trustees.

Bob Wilton, the highest vote puller in the trustee election said, "I'll most probably resign from the board in favor of working in the restaurant."

Wilton's wife, Lita, is listed as one of the owners of the new restaurant slated to open in the old Western Auto Building at the intersection of Rtes. 59 and 173 in a few months.

A group of businessmen, to which Wilton's wife belongs, purchased Thompson's Restaurant on Main St., lock, stock and liquor license and will move parts of the business to the new location.

"Right now I don't know if I have to be sworn in Monday night in order to resign," Wilton added.

Wilton said that there were no plans for the restaurant purchase when he filed his candidacy papers in January.

"The deal with Thompson's came up the first part of April. I knew that there was a law about elected officials holding a liquor license but the license was not in my name and I also knew that this kind of thing had been done for years in Antioch and nobody enforced the law, so I thought it would be the same in my case," he said.

The discovery check of precincts 12 and 4, requested by William Seemann, who at this date has lost the election to Don Amundsen by two votes, was slated to take place at the Lake County Court House, at 12:30 p.m., on Monday, May 2.

Meanwhile back at the village board meeting scheduled for that same night, the

Donations Total $21,050 To Help Area Retarded

The Antioch Mental Health Assn. has donated $21,050 in 1982 to help retarded children and adults in Lake County. These donations have been to Grove School in Lake Forest, The Lambs Farm in Libertyville and The Riverside Foundation near Lincolnshire.

Since 1967, The Antioch Mental Health Assn. has given over $212,000 to these and other organizations that offer services to the handicapped.

The monies for these donations all come from the association's yearly Cotillion and from the Thrift Shop at 921 Main St. in Antioch.

The 18th Annual Cotillion will be held at The Abbey on Lake Geneva. Tickets are available from members and at the financial institutions in Antioch. Donation per ticket is $25.

Parks, Jaycees plan bang-up July Fourth

The Antioch Parks and Recreation Department and the Antioch Jaycee's are planning an expanded three-day 4th of July celebration. The festivities will be held at Williams Park from Saturday July 2 through Monday July 4.

Activities planned for the weekend will include amateur water fights, live music, The Miss Antioch Pageant, the 4th of July Parade, a spectacular fireworks display and activities throughout the day for young and old. A wide variety of food and beverage will be available all weekend.

The parks department and the Jaycee's would like as much community participation as possible. Any community organization interested in participating by running a concession or demonstration are urged to contact parks at (312)395-2160 or the Jaycee's at (312)395-0152.

Locally sponsored amateur water fight teams are invited to compete in the first annual Antioch waterfights. Interested parties should call (312)395-6047.

Latest village win nobody's garbage

by GLORIA DAVIS

The Village of Antioch has won yet another victory in its fight against the horizontal expansion of Waste Management's landfill.

Early Monday, May 2, Village Atty. Ken Clark was apprised of the fact that the Appellate Court had allowed the village's motion to strike the brief filed by the disposal company.

This means that Waste Management's request for an expedited hearing has failed and been removed from its scheduled June call in Elgin.

According to the other attorney that is representing the village in this matter, Donna Henderson, the disposal company now has 35 days in which to file a brief that complies with the Supreme Court's rules.

The village then has the same amount of time to respond to this brief and then there will be a time and date set for oral arguments from both sides to be heard.

"We haven't heard a thing from the EPA (Environmental Protection Agency) on the application for the vertical expansion," said Henderson.

She added that a decision on that matter is expected within the next week or 10 days.

Waste Management holds that they have filed a new application with the EPA since the vertical expansion was denied on the grounds that the village owned part of the property in question.

The latest application only covers expansion on the ground owned by the disposal company.

"We contend that this is essentially the same site, so this is an appeal," said Henderson.

At any rate the world's largest owners of pollution controlled landfill sites continues to pour more money into this, one of the many legal battles it is fighting in many different areas of the country.

The Antioch State Bank Ladies Golf League will hold its opening meeting on Tuesday, May 10, at Spring Valley Country Club at 9 a.m. Committees and officers will be elected and summer activities planned.

The league plays on Tuesday mornings and all will have an opportunity to better their game as well as be a winner because scoring is adjusted by each member's handicap.

The group has five flights so as to accommodate golfers from the novice to the more accomplished player.

Any ladies who may be interested in joining, either as a regular participating member or as a substitute, are invited to attend the May 10 meeting.

For further information or sign-up call Nancy Zitzkus at (312)395-1202 or Marge Solar at (312)395-3627.

Wash mom's car

The Antioch Chamber Of Commerce And Industry is sponsoring a Mothers Day Car Wash on Saturday, May 7, under the Water Tower on Toft Ave. The cost is $1.50 per car and you get free coffee while you wait!

When is the last time you did something nice for the "greatest of all ladies", your mom? The cost is minimal and it really is a great way to say a special "thank you" to your mother, or mother-in-law.

You'll have a good time while you're waiting with the car washers, all Chamber members. Call the Chamber for more information at (312)395-2233.

News to host publicity tea

The Antioch News will host publicity chairmen of Antioch area organizations at a meeting on reporting club news at 9:30 a.m. Saturday, May 7, at the News office, 952 Main St.

Publisher William H. Schroeder said publicity chairmen or club representatives are urged to attend to get ideas on ways to advance their organization through positive news coverage.

Co-host of the meeting will be the Antioch Reporter.

Managing Editor Roger Ruthhart will give a short talk and persons attending will have an opportunity to ask questions. Arranging photo coverage also will be discussed.

Refreshments will be served.

regular swearing-in of the candidates chosen in the spring election is scheduled to take place.

Regardless of the discovery's outcome, Amundsen will be sworn in on Monday. If Seemann finds any discrepancies and carries it to a recount through legal proceedings, it could be well over a year before we will know that outcome.

Back to Wilton's situation, the intent of the purchasers of Thompson's is to have the liquor license put in their name and switched to the new location, a common procedure according to Mayor Ray Toft.

The fact that Illinois State Statute, Sec. 120, Chapt. 43 says that no elected law enforcement official, including members of village or county boards, or the head of both, can be interested in any way, either directly or indirectly, with the sale or distribution of liquor, is the cause of the whole problem.

Cases in the past that most probably violated this statute, but nobody complained so nothing was done about it, include Toft's owning the property on which the Limerick Lounge stands when he was previously in office. As mayor he also served as liquor commissioner so he had a vote on the liquor license of a tenant. Toft sold that property some years ago.

Although Sec. 120 has been lightly brought up in previous elections, there was no loud call for the resignations of Toft or Trustee Mike Haley, who had approval over the license of his brother who owned the Limerick while he was in office.

Reports also have Seemann tending bar while holding office.

Now that the alcoholic can of worms has been popped open (maybe by well-meaning supporters of Wilton) it's put the other victorious candidate Mable-Lou Weber in the same predicament.

Weber is the bookkeeper at the Antioch Bowling Lanes and this puts her in the position of approving her boss' liquor license.

Toft said, "There would be no problem in Wilton's being sworn to the board, if he so chooses, on Monday, since none of the transactions on the restaurant have come before the board formally."

Toft added that the owners of the proposed restaurant at Rtes. 59 and 173 will have to go before the planning and zoning commissions to be granted a special use of the property as a tavern. Then the village board will have to approve their request for a change of location for the liquor license.

Weber said, "If I'm asked to resign, first I will look into the situation and do a thorough legal check on it and if I have to, I'll quit my job before I'll quit the village board. I worked too hard to get elected for that."

She added that she had also worked hard at her job for years.

Village Clerk Marilyn Sterbenz, whose husband owns the bowling lanes said, "I think the entire thing is silly."

Village clerks are immune from Sec. 20 because they have no vote.

Toft seemed to be worried that he might get the brunt of the whole thing if people don't approve of any necessary appointments to the board he makes.

Antioch Trust Co. improves access

Antioch Trust Co. is instituting a new program which will enable area residents to have access to a discount brokerage service.

According to Paul Pavelski, president of Antioch Trust Co., the program is intended to service individuals and corporations who have a need to buy or sell securities without the investment research associated with a full service brokerage firm.

The service included providing quotes, executing trades, clearing transactions, maintaining customer account records, supplying confirmations, monthly statements and year end tax reports.

The service will utilize Depositors Discount

Brokerage Service in connection with Wall Street Clearing Co. of New York.

Depositors Discount is a member of the Securities Investors Protection Corp. (which insures the accounts of its members for up to $500,000.00).

An additional service will enable customers to have access to Money Market Accounts. Antioch Trust Co. has been a leader in the area of providing innovative trust services to individuals and corporations.

If you would like to establish a no obligation discount brokerage account, please contact Antioch Trust Co., (312)395-8500, or visit their office at 360 Lake St., Antioch, IL., 60002.

The Time Machine

When I think about it It's easy to spell Mom

by GLORIA DAVIS

I remember the times she said nary a word as I ate my lunch perched atop our three story garage. This was not permissiveness, the fact was that she was so frightened that her shriek might cause me to fall, that her lips wouldn't move as she stared at my lofty dining room from the kitchen window.

Then there was the night that she moved all the furniture out of the livingroom and lined the floor with every mattress available for my first teenage slumber party.

I fondly recall how tired she was the next day after turning out dozens of hamburgers and tons of honest to goodness homemade french fries and laying awake most of the night because of the girlish giggles and incessant chatter that went on till dawn.

Will I ever forget the look on her face as her only little girl (I had three brothers) went out the door headed for a Friday night movie date in tight boys' levis (they didn't make them for girls in the '50s), my brother's shirt (the only top long enough to tuck into the unflattering hipline belt), both topped with an ultra feminine peacoat from the Navy surplus store.

In truth, one never really appreciates their parents until being one. That's when you find out that your Mom and Dad's shoes came in a size not sold in today's shoe stores, so try as you do they are impossible to fill.

On Sunday, May 8, the whole country will hold its annual salute to motherhood. The florists will be flourishing since wiring flowers is probably the easiest way to remember Mom.

And the card counters will be deluged by requests for the 1983 version of the millions of ways to spell "Mother."

Why not! Mothers are very special people and even grandmothers like me still feel that they play a secondary role on that day as long as their mother is alive, for she is still the "Big M."

When "I remember Mama," the usual thoughts whirl through my head. The smell of her Sunday post roast wafts past my nostrils and the picture of her tired eyes watching over my fever ridden, measles-bed snaps to mind.

But besides the hugs, the spankings, and the lessons she so readily imparted all through my painful growing years, it is the unusual little love-filled things that hold an upmost space in my heart.

The time she let me crawl into bed with her and tried vainly to blow-up a cheap un-stretchable balloon until it burst and tears came to her eyes. Not caused by frustration or sorrow but by the tiny piece of balloon that was caught in them.

This was the first time I ever saw my mommy cry and the traumatic feeling that gave me is still emblazoned on my memory.

The tons of midnight oil she burned as she worked into the early morning hours a month before my fifth birthday, sewing doll clothes by hand for the $3 doll that was to be my present.

At that time, I know I didn't appreciate the "pre-Barby" fact that I was probably the only little girl for miles whose doll had three complete sets of lacey underwear (even a mini-girdle), two pairs of nylons and a mink coat made out of an old fur collar.

In fact that doll also had replicas of several of my own outfits including the uniform I wore to school, complete with knee socks. This before the era of stretch-knit materials.

Then there was the time she let me get away with putting the thermometer in my cup of tea until it read 107 degrees so I could take a few days off of school.

How I loved to be served my meals in bed while I luxuriously buried my head in a new book or listened to my favorite radio serials.

This is a perfect example of mothering by the heart instead of by the book. She knew I could afford to miss a little school and felt a little R and R was in order.

ACHS spellers in contest

On Thursday evening, April 14, 14 top spellers from Antioch Community High School competed in a spelling bee to find the top five spellers in the high school. The top five spellers were: Becky Albrecht, April Rapp, Leslie Stollenwerk, Bill Sweeney and Matt Swiatek.

Parents of the top 14 were invited to attend the bee, held in the choir room, and heard students struggle with "murmuring", "implement" and "rebuttal". At last Leslie Stollenwerk spelled "interfered" and the bee was over.

The five teams will compete at the Northwest Suburban Conference spelling bee on Thursday, May 12, at Wauconda High School. On that day, eight schools will compete to find the top speller and the top team in the conference.

Stage review

'Broadway hits but not smashingly!

by GLORIA DAVIS

If you are expecting the Marriott Lincolnshire Theater's latest offering to be in the smash-hit caliber of "They're Playing Our Song," and "Little Me," you may be in for a slight disappointment.

The show is a good one, but not the great one that my appreciation of the direction and choreography of David Bell and talents of Jimmy Sudik had me hoping for.

But then what can one expect of a show called "Give My Regards To Broadway," the innovativeness of a "Chorus Line?"

It is the very dated, oft use Cohan material that keeps 'Broadway' in the hit and out of the smash category. I guess I hoped for the almost impossible shining of the old into new as they did in "The Jolson Story."

But it is good clean entertainment and we all can use its patriotic shot in the arm. The audience loved it, greeting its flag-waving finale with a standing ovation.

The best parts of the show are the dance numbers. Credit for these go to Bell and the entire cast, leads and all, who tap up a storm on Marriott's tiny stage.

The other two scene stealers are Carol Dilley, as the nervous, fast-talking, blond chorine, and Kurt Johns as Stan the stage manager.

Johns shows an a lot of professionalism in his singing and dancing.

Jimmy Sudik is a comfortable, likeable George M. Cohan, in comparison to James Cagney's glib, rather obnoxious one. He too does well in the terpsichorean department and belts out the Cohan songs like an actor that sings.

But then Cohan himself was no Caruso. Sudik does a fine job but he too suffers under the great expectations of his "Little Me" performance.

Other notable characterizations, in all three singing, dancing and acting categories, are turned in by Mary Ernster, Mark Pence, Peggy Roeder and Ross Lehman as the rest of the Cohans and his producer.

All in all it's a great evening's entertainment for the entire family. Well, maybe you better leave that rock-loving teen home.

Antioch AARP supports new license requirements

President Ruth Rynders presided at the meeting on April 26 when 175 members gathered at the Senior Center for the regular meeting of Antioch Chapter 387, American Assn. of Retired Persons.

Clara Haling, legislative chairman, told members of several bills pending in Springfield which will affect the renewal of drivers licenses for Senior Citizens.

Currently, Illinois law requires that individuals 69 years and older must take all driving tests every three years. Those under 69 are not required to take the tests except vision tests if they have a clean driving record of no violations.

The Secretary of State is backing House Bill 350 and Senate Bill 60 which eliminates the written test but still requires a driving test every three years. AARP is supporting HB 69 which puts those over 69 on the same basis as those under 69.

Haling also told members of the In-Home Program of the Dept. of Aging. Three Area Agencies on Aging will be established. The Dept. of Welfare and Dept. of Rehabilitation will cooperate to set up a central intake point called "Case Coordination Unit."

All requests to the three Area Agencies will be channeled to the CCU which will decide whether the client needs nursing home care, in-home care, housekeeper, or other services.

Vicki Bock, community service committee, asked for volunteers to help tag on June 3 for the Salvation Army Donut Day. Hours to work will be 9 to 11 a.m., 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 1 to 3 p.m. in the town of Antioch. Please call Vicki (312) 356-2229 if you can help.

The meeting closed with a short memorial service for Clarence Spiering, who died very suddenly on March 18. Esther Aiani read a tribute to his memory.

Following is a schedule of activities for May and June.

May 10, Regular meeting. Brown bag lunch, cake and coffee. Guest speaker will be representative from the Social Security Administration.

May 13, Antioch Chapter will sponsor a booth at the Health Fair, Downey Hospital.

May 19, Trip to West Bend, Wis. Lunch at Smith's.

May 24, Craft Day. bring handmade items to sell. The Happy Wanderers will play for dancing afterwards.

VALUE OF DENTAL X-RAYS

Q: What do dentists learn from dental X-rays?

A: There are over 200 diseases of the mouth and jaw which can be identified only through an X-ray survey because this shows what the naked eye cannot see. Without the aid of X-ray, the dentist is able to see inflammation of gum tissue and deep periodontal pockets (but not the extent of bone destruction), the discoloration of a tooth (but not the area of decay causing it), the surface of an apparently normal silver alloy filling (but not the infected tooth pulp or root end of the tooth).

It's reassuring, considering their value, to know that dental X-rays have never been safer. Using ultra-speed film, it takes only 2-second exposure time for a complete mouth series (18 films). Used properly when the need is indicated, today's dental X-rays are invaluable diagnostic tools.

Pack 80 holds race

Cub Scout Pack 80 held a regatta boat race at their pack meeting on April 19. All the scouts arrived with the boats that they had crafted from kits. The boats are ailed in gutters filled with water and propelled by blowing the boat to the finish line.

The first and second place winners of the regatta were Mark Parker and Mike Priller. All the boys who participated received participation awards.

The Cub Scouts also participated in their annual kite fly at Grass Lake School on Saturday, April 23. Again, the boys were provided with kites to assemble and also could bring special kites for the "specialty kite fly".

Due to the wind there were many "disasters", but John Cole succeeded in having the first kite up and received a prize for this. Mike Priller picked up the prize for having his kite the farthest out.

In the "specialty" division, Jason Kitto had his kite up first and Brian Feherenbacher won for getting it out the farthest.

The next pack meeting will be on May 17 at Grass Lake School at 7 p.m. All scouts and their families are invited to attend and a special invitation is extended for the second grade boys and their parents of Grass Lake School who would be interested in joining the Cub Scouts for the upcoming year.

The highlight of the evening will be a demonstration of martial arts by Tom Meyers and some of his instructors. He teaches martial arts at his studio in Antioch. This should be a very interesting meeting and a lot of fun for all.

The Webelos are looking forward to their Webelo Woods campout on the weekend of May 6-8 at Camp Oakarro.

Jack Kemp promises top GOP attraction

Congressman Jack Kemp (R-New York) will discuss economic recovery, foreign policy and national defense before an expected 700 Republicans at the 1983 spring fund-raising dinner of the Lake County Republican Federation, William E. Brook, president, announced.

The dinner is set for 7:30 p.m. Friday, May 20, at the Mundelein Holiday Inn. It will be preceded by a reception starting at 6 p.m. Congressman Kemp will hold a press conference at the Inn at 6 p.m.

While Kemp is identified with economic matters because of the Kemp-Roth tax reform legislation, he also is ranking Republican on the foreign operations subcommittee of the House Appropriations Committee, Brook said. Kemp was an active congressional delegate to the SALT talks in Geneva and the Jerusalem Conference on International Terrorism.

Serving his seventh term in Congress, Kemp holds one of the top leadership positions as chairman of the House Republican Conference. He has been acclaimed a tough spokesman for human rights and Soviet Jewry.

Kemp played professional football in both the American and National Football leagues. A quarterback, he led the Buffalo Bills to AFL championships in 1964 and 1965, and was AFL most valuable player in 1965.

Dinner Chairman Barry L. MacLean said David L. Amory, Federation vice president, and Robert F. Carr III, both of Lake Forest, will be co-chairmen for patron ticket sales.

Assisting with patron ticket sales is former Congressman Robert McClory, of Washington and Heather Ridge, Gurnee, who over the years has secured many notable Republicans to keynote the Federation dinners, including U.S. Senator Howard H. Baker, Jr., Senate majority leader;

Congressman Robert Michel, House minority leader; Secretary of Agriculture John Block; U.S. Senators Robert Dole, Mark Hatfield and John Tower; former Ambassador Clare Boothe Luce and former Secretary of Commerce Elliot Richardson and others.

Members of the patron committee are Mrs. Orville C. Beattie, Mrs. Robert Bruma, William E. Brook, John Brooke, D.H. Carroll, Peter Cherry, Mrs. Harry B. Clow, S.A. Harris, Raymond Geraci, Stewart Dixon, Vernon Loucks, Jr., Robert McCormack, Mrs. Charles A. Meyer, Barry L. MacLean, Mrs. William North, Glenn S. Utt, Jr., Mrs. Henry P. Wheeler, Bradford E. West and Marshall R. Schroeder.

Also on patron sales are Federation past presidents Gordon H. Smith, Mrs. Augustin S. Hart, Jr. and Michael Cudahy, and Robert

P. Neal, Chairman of the Lake County Republican Central Committee. Patron tickets are $150 each. Dinner tickets for $30 each are being sold by members of the Federation Board of Governors, presidents of Republican clubs and organizations, and Republican Headquarters, 128 N. Genesee St. in Waukegan.

In charge of dinner tickets are Lake County Coroner Barbara Richardson of Grayslake and State Rep. William E. Peterson of the 60th District, Buffalo Grove.

The reception committee consists of Harold Byron Smith, Jr., National Committeeman and State Central Committeeman David Brown, 10th Congressional District, and Albert M. Jourdan, Jr., of the 12th Congressional District. Lila Hamann will be press conference chairman. Dinner-dance music will be played by Cabaret.

GET YOUR TICKETS — Lake County Coroner Barbara Richardson of Grayslake and State Rep. William Peterson (R-Buffalo Grove) are co-chairmen of dinner ticket sales for the 1983 spring fundraising dinner of the Lake County Republican Federation, 7:30 p.m., Friday, May 20 at the Mundelein Holiday Inn. Congressman Jack Kemp (R-New York) will be the keynote speaker.

Singers to entertain UM women

On May 5, at 7:30 p.m., the United Methodist Women invite the public to listen to the Isaiah:53 singing group at the United Methodist Church of Antioch.

The music of Isaiah:53 is contemporary and Christian and designed to stimulate the personal faith of their listeners. This group of talented singers try to give people hope by sharing what Christ has done and is doing in our lives. They are totally funded by free will offerings.
